Kuppenheimer Good Clothes

are money's worth any way you look at them. They are all wool, pure all wool. Their inside, unseen materials very important, as good as their outer fabrics. They are sewed with pure silk. More they are thoroughly pre-shrunk and cannot warp their seams or twist after being worn the first time in the rain or fog.

You will be just as proud to wear these good clothes as we are to sell them. Not only because of the better appearance they give you but because they are cheapest in the long run.

Our former townman C. D. Greenleaf who among all of his other business enterprises over at Elkhart, Indiana, has been and is an owner of the "Elkhart Review", recently taken over the other daily paper of Elkhart, "The Elkhart Review" and will consolidate that publication with the "Truth". Mr. A. H. Beardsley is associated with Mr. Greenleaf in the ownership of the newspaper. The consolidation is made in the interests of economy and on account of the print paper shortage.

"THE MAN OF THE HOUR" Very creditable indeed was the presentation by the Senior Class of the High School of the class play, "The Man of the Hour" on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week. The class and their advisers are to be commended for their choice of a play with a point pertinent to modern conditions and current life. The characters were all finely delineated, considering the fact that these young people have had their hands and minds pretty well filled with "exams" and all the rest that falls to the lot of High School graduates during the last month of the school year. The class of '20 have certainly established a good precedent in the way of Class Plays.

OLIVER LADD SMITH

Oliver Ladd Smith was born in Steubenville Jefferson County May 12, 1858 and died May 20, 1920 at Freedom, Ohio. He was united in marriage to Harriet Hartman Sep. 13, 1877, they were blessed with six children the mother, one son and three daughters passed to their home above. In the year 1898 he again united in marriage to Ida Rupp thus living in matrimony twenty-two years, two months and three days. This union was blessed with nine children, five sons and four daughters, of which one daughter preceded him to the better home. He leaves to mourn a sorrowing wife five sons and five daughters, one brother, one sister, ten grandchildren besides many relatives and friends. He was a member of the Defenseless Menonite church of Archbold. His sudden and unexpected death was a shock to his family and entire community.

He was a kind and loving husband and father and will be missed in the home and community.

ITS THE SALVATION ARMY

When you see a little band of people gathered on one of the street corners of this city, lifting up its voice in praise of Almighty God, it is well to bear in mind that this little band is but a single link in a great chain that encircles the whole world—a chain of people who have dedicated their lives to the job of helping the other fellow, physically, morally, spiritually. The chain calls itself the Salvation Army.

It will go before the people of the United States and ask for help for the poor and needy. Having attained a high place in the esteem and love of the American people the Salvation Army is going to try to do in 1920 what it has done for all the sixty years of its existence, only in a bigger and better way.

With the vanishing of the historic tambourine the Salvation Army has quit its ancient custom of collecting funds. The regular annual appeal will soon be put on the money tree. It means that this time and energy can now be put to increased relief work, increased efficiency—a bigger total of good done in the world.

Only by the help of the public during the appeal can the Salvation Army keep up its splendid record of achievement. And Ohio wants to be the first State in the Union in recognizing that achievement.

BOOKS BRING AID TO SOLDIER SICK

American Library Association Serves Ten Thousand Men in Nation's Hospitals.

EFFORTS BRING RESULTS.

Works on Vocational Training Circulated Among Men Who Must Take Up New Callings Because of Their Injuries.

Hospital library service maintained by the American Library Association during the war was credited with great value in aiding in the recovery of many sick and disabled men.

There are still in our hospitals more than 10,000 former service men. Of these nearly 8,000 are in Public Health Service hospitals, the remainder in civilian hospitals. Books, magazines and newspapers are sent to these men from the American Library Association. In the larger hospitals, containing over 300 patients, special librarians are placed. To the smaller hospitals, through the co-operation of medical libraries, library visitors are sent to visit the wards once or twice a week and learn the book needs of the patients.

A special effort is made to supply to ex-service men in hospitals the demand as a result of the training given by the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

More Books for Blind.

The A. L. A., in co-operation with other agencies already interested in work for the blind, is printing books in the new Braille type. Books of the newness of the revised Braille adopted for teaching to the American war blind, literature printed in it is limited to fewer than 200 books. Though the total number of blinded soldiers is small, their need of books is great, and the "music of print" can do much to restore hope and usefulness to them.

Not only for former service men who are sick or disabled is the association working. The value of books proved so great to men in camps that efforts are still being made to connect discharged soldiers and sailors with libraries wherever they may be. Hundreds of letters have reached A. L. A. headquarters from former service men telling of the lack of library facilities in particular localities to which these men have returned.

Direct Service Provided.

In many cases there is a state library commission or a nearby library to which a man can be referred for the books he needs, but if there is no such organization through which he can be served, books for almost any serious purpose may be borrowed directly from the A. L. A. War Service, 24 West Thirty-ninth street, New York city.

The only expense in connection with these loans is payment of return postage on books borrowed.

The A. L. A. has published lists of books to help ex-service men who are studying to advance themselves in their work. "Five Hundred Business Books," "One Thousand Technical Books" and reading courses on practical subjects are now in preparation.

Other Work Being Done.

Other branches of work which the A. L. A. War Service is carrying on include service to the Merchant Marine, Coast Guard and Fish Commission, service to industrial communities which are resultant from the war, service to United States forces overseas. This work is carried on with money received from the United War Work funds, the use of which is limited by the conditions of the gift to these specific purposes.

The service of the Merchant Marine department provides free library service to seamen on American merchant ships in the form of "crews' libraries," bookcase boxes, each containing about 50 books. These libraries are exchangeable at principal ports. Books and magazines are sent also to men in coast guard stations, in lighthouses and on lightships.

MRS. WM. H. TEDROW

Lily Adella McKibbin was born near Wauseon, Fulton County, Ohio February 26th, 1870 and departed this life May 19th 1920 at the home of her daughter near Morenci, age fifty years, two months and twenty-four days.

In the fall of 1887 she was united in marriage to Wm. H. Tedrow of Wauseon to this union was born two children, Mrs. Ryder of Detroit and Mrs. Dale Kennedy of Morenci who with the bereaved husband, her mother Mrs. Fickie of Alvordton, Ohio a brother, Edward McKibbin of Hudson and two grandchildren are left to mourn their loss.

Mrs. Tedrow had been a member of the Christian church of Wauseon a great many years and ever by conduct and service sought to exemplify the teaching of the master.

For the past two years she has been a great sufferer but bore most patiently her cross of affliction, the last three months she has been cared for at the home of her daughter Mrs. Kennedy.

She will be greatly missed not only in the family circle but by a host of other relatives and friends.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to those who so kindly assisted us during our deep sorrow and also for the beautiful floral offerings.
